

Information on the training profiles

Foundation Course carries out reception of foreign citizens for training in the following training profiles:

- Natural Sciences;
- Engineering and Technology;
- Humanitarian (Social Sciences);
- Economic;
- Medical and Biological.

The educational activities are conducted by teachers of the department "Russian as a foreign language" and teachers of other departments in the disciplines of general theoretical cycle. Training is carried out according to the approved curricula and working programs of disciplines.

Duration of training - 1 year (from September 1 to August 31):

- Theoretical training - 38 weeks;
- Intermediate and final examination - 4 weeks;
- Vacation - 10 weeks.

Total duration - 52 weeks.

The learning process involves two interrelated stages.

In the first stage, students learn Russian as a foreign language to the extent (level) necessary for further study of the scientific style of speech on the chosen training profile. There is a consistent formation of knowledge and skills in the Russian language (levels A1 - A2).

At the second stage continues the study of the Russian language (level B1) and begin classes on scientific style of speech, on the chosen profile of preparatory training. About a month later to the schedule are introduced general subjects.

The selection of subjects is done in such a way as to ensure an optimal level of preparation for entry to the university in the chosen specialty. In the course of studying of subjects of general educational profile of the students have the opportunity not only to improve the knowledge gained from the previous level of education, but also to master them to a qualitatively new level, allowing for the presentation of the material in Russian.

Upon completion of training at the Foundation Course students pass final certification provided by the curriculum appropriate training profiles, and receive a certificate of the established sample.
